Nancy Wynne Tells of the Golden Wedding Reception. of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lewis, Jr., at-Their Home Yesterday-Smart Gowns at Morning Musicale

TAM sure you will love to hear of the delightful reception which Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lewis, Jr., gave resterday afternoon at their bome, 1000 Spruce street, to celebrate the fiftieth suniversary of their wedding. The reception was not a very large affair, celly members of the family and intimate friends were invited, but I doubt if any one invited missed attending, so eager were all to wish them joy and congratulations.

Is a brother of Mrs. R. Sturgis Ingersoll, of Penllyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kennedy Wurts, of 2124 Pine street, will entertain at a theatre party, to be followed by supper at the Ritz-Carlton, on Thursday evening, January 25, in honor of their niece. Miss Elizabeth Dale Willson, debutante daughter of Mrs. Wurts W. Willson, of 1708 Locust street.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Biddle, of York road, Ogoniz, will entertain at a dinner congratulations.

A REMARKABLE feature of the reception yesterday was the presence of three other members of the first bridal party. Two bridesmaids, Mrs. Meade, Mr. Lewis's sister, and Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Lewis's sister, and Dr. Lewis, who was first groomsman at the wedding. You know in those days there was no best man and the bridegroun.

Are indeed by a box party at the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Getze, of Overbrook, will entertain at dinner at their home on Saturday evening, January 12, followed by a party at the performance of the Princeton Triangle Club, in honor of their son, Mr. E. Bieren Getze, Mr. and Mrs. George False Pater. weading. You know in those days there was no best man and the bridegroom walked into the room with his mother-in-law. The other members of the bridal party were the late Miss Rosa Stedman, Mr. Willing Lewis and Mr. Scouth Twenty-second Morris of the force Penner.

and which had the signatures of the guests at the wedding, including President Grant's, fifty years ago. On the back of the long bit of parchuent were the names of those who had attended the twenty-fifth anniversary dinner in 1897 and yesterday all those who were there signed. Is that not a wonderful thing for the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis to have?
Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have lived all the fifty years of their married life in the same house at 1000 Spruce street. where they came one week after their wedding trip. Their summers were spent at the Borie place, "The Dell," in Torresdale, which has since been bought by Dr. and Mrs. Joseph M. This is the third golden wedding within the last few years in the Boric family, Mr. and Mrs. Beauveau Borie saving celebrated theirs some five or six years ago and Mr. and Mrs. James Mauran Rhodes their two years ago at their home in California.

It is hard to write about such things.
There is the feeling after attending an affair like that, where love and companionship and mutual respect have lasted long through the years and are lasting yet, that not many of the present generation are as they. Not many of those we see around as will live as they have. What a leason it is and should be to us.

Can we not do something to preserve the beauty, the courtesy, the stateliness of the old generation, their kindliness of spirit, their utter good taste?

THE Monday Musicale at the Belle-I vac-Stratford yesterday was inter-esting. Claire Dux sang delightfully. The ballroom was crowded and I saw a great many people I knew. Mrs. Bar-clay McFadden was there looking very well. She wore a small green felt hat and a brown dress. Another recent bride I saw (Mrs. McFadden was Miss bride I saw (Mrs. McFadden was Miss Virginia Heckscher before her marriage last spring) was Mrs. Muscoe Garnett, who was with her cousin, Miss Fannie K. Wister. Mrs. Garnett, you remember, was Miss Caroline Barclay before her marriage in October.

Several debutantes were in the audlence and among those I noticed was Clair Gittings, Mrs. John C. Gittings Caughter. Miss Gittings looked pratty in a gray homespun suit and a gray in a gray homespun sult and a gray felt hat. She carried a dark brown coat with a collar and cuffs of beaver. Another deb in the audience was Saraellen Richardson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tolbert Richardson, of Germantown. "Saraelle," as most of her friends call her, wore a muskrat coat and a blue felt hat trimmed on the side with a quill. I hear she is getside with a quill. I hear she is get-ting better from her s.cident every day—I am so glad. NANCY WYNNE.
